HEAR·IT·TIZZ

BERT & MARGARET DIENELT back after a few days in SF, where they stayed at the Clift Hotel.....Also up in the metropolis were Dr. EDWARD & Mrs. Mc CORMICK..... .....An OFFICE BOY who made good is HARRISON GODWIN, owner of Pine Inn, great and good friend of BING CROSBY and master of new ESTATE in the hills ABOVE Carmel Valley. USED to be office boy for L.A. Examiner--a while ago, that was. Incidentally HARRISON is spending much time right now preparing for the BING CROSBY TOURNAMENT at Pebble Beach which comes up in less than a month. Starts Jan. 10. Carmel Cartoonist BILL O'MALLEY is doing the posters and program illustrations for Crosby Tournament..... .....Getting bigger is BERG'S in Seaside. This is not a paid ad -- it's just that we LIKE Bert Berg and his wife ELEANOR. They came out here a few years ago and really FELL for Carmel but they could not find a shop to buy. Finally started one in Seaside. Have since enlarged their dress shop by taking in the space next door and now have taken in another shop on the other side. As the ads say "Another wall comes down." They live in Carmel Valley but still love Carmel.....

.....LOVELY THERESE KEATING, the Swiss gal whose husband is stationed in Korea, leaving town for a while for SUN VALLEY where she will probably be a SKI instructor. So good she may even make the OLYMPICS..... Another well known SKI expert is HERB BROOK of Los Laureles Lodge who is away up in the mountains now practicing up for the SKI TOUR he plans to Europe this winter. OLLIE BROOK is in SF arranging details of her SUN TOUR of SPAIN in Jan. and Feb.....FIREMEN and POLICE TAKE OVER PINE INN might be a good headline this week. Earlier in the week the Firemen had a big shindig there and tonight the Police are doing the same. No big fires when the LADDIES were gathered together but better lock your doors tonight..... .....Couple of interesting marriages took place last week. NAN HOLDEN, the SONG WRITER and singer, hitched her wagon to the star of DICK BEARDSLEY--Both well known about town. Dick, the owner of CARMICHAEL, the pooch who was featured as a WHO IS IT several years back..... STARR ELLIS, former EDITOR of the P.G. TRIBUNE, GAME & GOSSIP, etc., reported married on Sunday to an out-of-towner, whose name we have not been able to find for you..... .....ADM. RAYMOND SPRUANCE and DR. REMSEN BIRD of Carmel will be among those who will spearhead a plan to make the WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL a nationwide organization. Both are directors for Northern Calif. WORLD AFFAIRS COUNCIL which met in big conference over weekend at ASILOMAR.....An interesting COUPLE are "RED" and FRANCES CAREY. Back a little over a year ago, from looking for URANIUM in Idaho and thereabouts, they settled back into their Carmel life. "RED" interested in lots of things that are going on besides his Carmel Laundry, and Frances now in another phase of the cleaning business by buying the EL PASEO Beauty Salon.....ROBERT GROS, frequent Carmel visitor and head of P.G.& E. Publicity, named chairman of Xmas decoration committee in S.F. Our own local committee named at Carmel Business Assoc. last night will be judging our local windows thru the 18th to award the $250.00 MARK THOMAS is putting up for best decorations.....

(Bottom) Mr. and Mrs. Bill Askew listen attentively while Fireman Paul Mercurio, former chief of the Carmel Fire Department, explains about emergency exits at the Pine Inn in case of fire. A dinner is given each year for all members of the department and their wives by Honorary Fire Marshall Harrison Godwin. (Photos by Steve Crouch)

(Editor's Note: The following letter pretty well typifies the attitude of most Carmelites regarding the proposed changes on Scenic Drive.)

December 10, 1951

The Carmel Planning Commission
c/o Mr. Peter Mawdsley,
City Clerk
Carmel, California
Gentlemen:

As a resident of the community for the past thirty years and as a substantial taxpayer, it is with great interest that I learn of plans to change Scenic Drive.

Because of the seriousness of such changes, you no doubt have given the subject a great deal of thought. In any event, I do hope you will take considerable time before entering into the project.

In my opinion, Scenic Drive is one of the most interesting and attractive drives on this coastline which, of course, is one of the great scenic areas in the world. To destroy a considerable number of those beautiful trees will, no doubt, have its effect on the lovely character which now exists.

It is no small matter to change one of the most outstanding natural charms Car...e' has to contribute to its many visitors and, most important, to those of us who live here. I understand that the trees may be a liability to the city, but perhaps some simple, dignified signs might be inconspicuously placed, suggesting that motorists drive carefully and with a speed limit even as low as fifteen miles an hour.

I do hope you will give this your every consideration before any changes are made.

Most sincerely,
Harrison Godwin.

48 YEARS OF FLIGHT

Man's first flight in a heavier-than-air machine took place on the windswept sands at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, 48 years ago on December 17.

Yes, the Wright brothers knew they had made the dream of the ages come true there in Kitty Hawk 48 years ago, but even they couldn't have foreseen how great that dream would become as a reality.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS

Just exactly 160 years ago on December 15 the Bill of Rights--the first ten amendments to the United States Constitution--became part of the law of the land.

These amendments are the very keystone of individual freedom in America and they have grown in importance rather than diminished as the Nation has met the thrusts from both within and without to destroy our democracy.

Constant vigilance is necessary, however, to protect the privileges provided us under the Bill of Rights. And it is essential that we protect the rights of others as well as our own. We must be alert on the one hand to subversives who aim to destroy law and order and would rule by force. On the other hand, we must be equally aware of the dangers arising from the super-patriotism which would deny the basic rights of freedom of speech and action to those holding differing views.

The Bill of Rights is based on respect for the individual. That's what makes it such a dynamic force in our Nation today. It is only through such respect that we as individuals can get along with our neighbors. And only as nations practice such respect will they get along with each other.

XMAS PAGEANT AT ALL SAINTS'

All Saints' Church School, Carmel, will bring its Fall Term to a close this Sunday, December 16, with a simple Christmas Pageant in the Church at 3 p.m., to be followed by a party in the Parish Hall, at which the Joanne Nix dancers will perform highlights from the recently successful ballet "Cinderella."

Members of the School are bringing gifts of clothes and food for the Navaho children at the Episcopal Mission at Fort Defiance, Arizona. There will be no morning session of the School.

CHRISTMAS CAUTION

The danger of Christmas trees catching fire is nothing now by comparison to what it was years ago when we used to put lighted candles on the branches. Yet, the danger is not entirely eliminated even with electric lights and other modern improvements.

Fire prevention experts make these recommendations: Choose a fresh green tree, cut at least an inch off the bottom of the tree, preferably cutting at an angle, and stand it in water. This apparently is to keep the tree from drying out and becoming a fire hazard. A guy wire should be attached at the top to keep the tree from falling.

The tree should be placed away from drying heat, sparks from the fireplace, or stairways that will provide a draft in case of fire. Check the tree daily and add water as needed. Watch for scorched needles near lights and see that tinsel doesn't hang near light sockets as the boughs sag. Turn the lights off when the tree is not actually being enjoyed. AND DON'T SMOKE NEAR THE TREE. Some of these precautions may seem unnecessary, but you'll never be sad because you were careful.

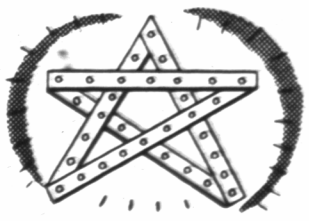
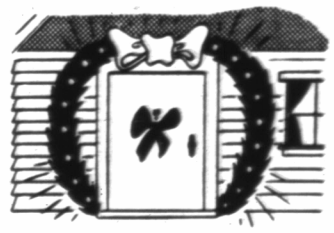
Our block is bright with Christmas cheer
...we're all using outdoor lighting!



One of our neighbors started out with a large lighted star for the roof of his house. Star can be shaped from composition board or metal. Holes drilled for the bulbs finish it off!



One of the best in our block is a big wreath that frames the front door. Greens can be woven into common poultry mesh with red outdoor lights for berries. It's easy and Christmas bright!

Another family in our block is using one of the simplest . . . but most effective outdoor lighting plans. They bought a string of outdoor lights and dressed up a large bush in their yard.

See your local appliance dealer for new and inexpensive Christmas lighting ideas!

FAREWELL BALL HONORED GENERAL LINE CLASS OF 1951

Four hundred and fifty students of the U.S. Naval School, General Line Class of 1951, and their ladies were honored Saturday night at the school's formal farewell ball which was held in the main dining room of the school.

Because of the large attendance, over 1000 persons, invitations were limited to students and staff of the Line School and supporting Naval activities.

The ball marked the last major social function of the season before the class graduates on December 21 and afforded an opportunity for the many students and staff members and their ladies to say their farewells before departing for new duty stations.

Preceding the ball which began at 9 p.m. were many cocktail and dinner parties by the 18 student sections and staff groups from the General Line School, Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Aerological Engineering School and Communications Short Course.

In the receiving line which opened the ball were Captain J. S. Tracy, commanding officer of the General Line School, Captain H. A. Pieczentkowski, executive officer of the General Line School, Commander Wallace A. Sherrill, commanding officer of the Air Station, and Mrs. Sherrill, and Commander E. F. Jacobs, senior student officer, and Mrs. Jacobs. At 11 p.m. a buffet supper was served to all guests in the Bali Room.

WOMAN'S CLUB GIVES XMAS PARTY

Last Monday afternoon was the annual Christmas party sponsored by the card section of the Carmel Woman's Club. Christmas decorations were used throughout the clubhouse and a delicious buffet luncheon was served, after which all guests received a gift from Santa. Mrs. W. C. Peterson was assisted by Mrs. F. E. Naftzger, Mrs. Wm. N. Eklund, and Mrs. W. W. Terrill.

On Monday, December 17, the annual tea for new members will be held.

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT AT DOUGLAS SCHOOL

Invitations to the annual Christmas pageant of the Douglas School, Pebble Beach, are in the mails. The beautifully costumed medieval play, which has long been traditional at the school, serves as a happy occasion for Mrs. Douglas, director of the school, to welcome parents and friends. The pageant will be presented at 2 p.m. today (Friday) in Great Hall at the school. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, minister at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel, has been asked by the students to narrate the play which they will portray through tableaux and carols.

Director of the pageant and in charge of properties is Major J. Cowan, academic head of Douglas. Mrs. V. Bailey will play the music. Costumes and makeup are in charge of Mrs. Sylvia Stone and Mrs. Adelaide Myrick. Mrs. Marilyn von Laass and Mrs. Lee Kodrebski will arrange the tableaux. Ed Robinson is stage electrician. Following the procession bearing the boar's head and wassail bowl, George and Jessie Wilmot, the cooks, will preside at the Christmas refreshment table.

The production includes: Herald, Cyrus Block; Queen, Gwendy Guiberson; Train Bearers, Fred Seely, Michael Collins; Pages, Susan Osborne, Lou Ann Bowersox; King, Sam Morse, III; Prince, Charles Osborne; Jester, Piero Fenci; Squire, Patsy Field; Holly Bearers, Cameron Ashton, Suzette Garin, Candy Brown, Letitia Bascoin, Barbara and Pamela Hately; Log Bearers, Nacio Brown, Peter Fletcher, Randy Spalding; Elf, Yule Log Rider, Eugenia Nelson; Cook, Clive Martin; Maid, Pamela Canfield; Narrator, Dr. K. Fillmore Gray; Mary, Kathie Dumont; Joseph, Patsy Pell; Angel, Gay Goffinet; Shepherds, Westy Fletcher, Kit Gray; Wise Men, Colene Campbell, Cynthia Marks, Sandra Six.

PEBBLE BEACH NOTES...

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Gann will leave their Pebble Beach home December 15 on the President Cleveland for a Christmas Cruise, which will take them to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila, and home on January 26.

Enroute the ship stops two days in Los Angeles and the Ganns have invited a large group of Southern friends to a cocktail party aboard ship while there.

While in Japan the Ganns hope to visit with Mrs. Gann's son, Don Hutchinson, who is with the Navy in Korea, and Mr. Gann's son, Ernest K. Gann, who is flying the Korea Air Lift.

CHRISTMAS FOLDERS FREE

Attractive, full-color Christmas folders are ready now for those who plan to give U.S. Defense Bonds to their loved ones and employees as Christmas gifts, Acting Postmaster A. M. Mollner announced to shoppers today.

The folders are given free with each Defense Bond bought as a gift at all post offices and banks.

Slotted on the inside to hold a bond of any denomination, the folders have a beautiful Christmas theme on the cover. There is also a space on the cover for inscribing the name of the person to whom the bond is given.

"Defense Bonds make particularly appropriate gifts this Christmas, in view of our nation's rearmament expenditures and the need for increased individual saving in this way," the Postmaster stated.

"They're the perfect solution for those who plan to make cash or Christmas check gifts. On the very face of a Defense Bond is a value that is one-third more than the Bond costs... which makes a Bond more impressive gift than the same amount of money.

"But more than that, U.S. Defense Bonds are better than money gifts for they grow in value the longer they're held... don't wear out... and will be replaced by Uncle Sam if they're lost or stolen.

"Can you name any other Christmas present that has those qualities?" the Postmaster asked.

STAMP CLUB TO HOLD PROGRAM MEETING

Meeting in the lounge of the Carmel High School on Monday, December 17, at 8 p.m., the members of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club and their guests will enjoy a program arranged by the program committee headed by L. S. Stallings.

Members' names will be taken alphabetically and those members whose names appear at the beginning of the alphabet will be called upon first to exhibit stamps from their private collections. Informal talks will follow.

Stallings also announces that since this is the last meeting before Christmas, the committee plans to make this a CHEERful one. Just what kind of CHEER will be dished out, remains to be seen. All stamp collectors and their friends on the Peninsula are cordially invited to come out to this meeting. The lounge is a pleasant place and the program promises to be CHEERFUL.

'THE HASTY HEART' IS LOCAL SUCCESS

The most serious criticism of the Actors Theatre's presentation of "The Hasty Heart," which took place on Dec. 1 and 2 at the Pacific Grove High School Auditorium, is that its run was all too brief. With the exception of a few minor flaws, the performance of this engaging comedy-drama, by John Patrick, was creditable in acting, staging, and direction.

Much of the effectiveness of the play rests on the portrayal of its central character, Lachlen, a Scotsman whose fierce pride prevents his accepting the comradeship of the group of men with whom he unknowingly is to spend the last few weeks of his life. The acting of Ric Masten in this difficult role was in every respect admirable, ranging from a dry humor to a pitch of controlled intensity which left the audience breathless. Even Mr. Masten's command of the Scots dialect was expert without being overdone.

As the Yank who leads the effort to humanize the Scotsman, Allen Greif contributed greatly to the humor and believability of the plot. Peg Miner, in the difficult position of being the only woman in the cast, was excellent as the nurse whose efforts at friendship thoroughly compromise her in the eyes of the suspicious Lachlen. As the clownish Australian, Kiwi, Jim Hare displayed a fine comic technique augmented by a maniacal laugh which invariably proved infectious to the audience.

Finally, Charles Thomas is to be commended for his fine direction; along with Wesley Fleharty, Thomas was also responsible for the effective staging of the play.

GOING-AWAY PARTY HONORS PIANO STUDENTS

A recital-party at the home of Kathryn Lansdowne, teacher of piano in Carmel and Monterey, was given recently as a "good-bye" for three students whose parents are leaving the Peninsula this month.

Honorees were Barbara Green, daughter of the Chief Warrant officer, Aerological Engineering Corps, who with his family is leaving for a new post at Adak in the Aleutians; Paul and Barbara Damrow, son and daughter of Comdr. and Mrs. J. P. Damrow, who are

DON'T NEGLECT OLDER CHILD WHILE YOU PAMPER THE BABY

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

In spite of all the wide gains in education, a child, five, growing up with a younger sister or brother, may grow more excitable and harder to manage on account of this younger child.

The mother of such a child writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have two youngsters, 2 and 5. The boy is the older and presents my problem. He is very nervous and high-strung, always has been, and since his sister came along the tension has increased. He misses the quiet times we had together reading, playing, etc.

Sister Annoys Him

"Of course, Sister is at that stage when she gets into things he is doing and upsets his play habits. I try to get her to play with her toys, but his always seem more enticing. He likes to visit Grandma because it is quiet.

"He will play very nicely by himself or even quite well with Sister around, but when a playmate comes he immediately discards what he is doing and yells, jumps about, scatters everything over the toom and can't seem to settle down enough to play."

Here in part is how I wrote her: It is natural that your son should grow more nervous because of his sister. You see, he was the center of the universe until she arrived.

It's significant that he likes to be at his grandmother's, with no little sister to vie with him for attention or mess up his things. Spend considerable time teaching her to let alone his precious things and what he makes.

When either must be restrained or punished, assign the offender to sit in a chair unamused, 15 minutes for the younger and 25 for the older. Spank only if either should leave the chair too soon.

Try to calm him down with quiet suggestions when a playmate arrives. A story or some quiet play with him and the playmate might work magic.

Cuddle him often, converse quietly with him, answering his questions and listening raptly as he speaks. You and Dad, especially Dad, should often read to him and make things with him.

Try to keep your voices soft and low and the radio or television silent most of the time while he is awake. Praise him often when you can do so honestly. Try to make him feel he is your big boy. You even might allow him to go to bed half an hour later than his sister, during which time he could talk with you parents, listen to stories and feel he has you alone for a little while.

Show great pleasure when he is expecially kind to his little sister, and when he shows her how to draw with crayons or build with blocks and the like. He should have some tools which you parents will show him how to use carefully and with safety to him and his sister.

In her self-addressed, stamped envelope I enclosed my bulletins, "Jealousy," "The Nervous Child," "Tot Learning To Be Sociable."

Picture of a man making a smart decision

HERE is a man who's been doing a lot of thinking.

Someday, he's told himself, I'm going to turn in my old car and get a new one.

And he said, still talking to himself, when I do that I'm going to size up the field—give 'em all a real going over.

You see him here at the wheel of a Buick. He hasn't bought it—yet. It's a demonstrator, and he's trying it out.

But the more he tries it, the more he knows he's been wasting a lot of time.

From the moment he looked inside, he said: Here's the room—and the comfort—and the style I've been looking for.

Then he nudged its Fireball Engine into action. It's a high-compression valve-in-head, as you probably know.

He eased out into traffic. Stopped and started for a couple of traffic lights, and said something to the effect that this Dynaflow Drive* is a honey. Why don't they all build 'em this way?

He saw a bump ahead. Place where the pavement had been torn up. Other cars were braking down to a creep to cross it. He held back—rolled right across at regular speed with barely a bobble.

It's hard to believe, he said, but what they say about Buick's ride is right.

Ten minutes later he was out on an open stretch of road. Tried an experimental push on the gas treadle. Boy—what a take-off! You couldn't want more power than that.

Ten minutes more—and he knew something else. You don't really steer a Buick. It just about steers itself. Stays right on the beam on the straightaway. Even straightens itself out after a curve.

To make a long story short—he's found out that nothing else he's tried out can hold a candle—not even a little Christmas candle—to this bonnie beauty.

Back at the Buick showroom, he's going to get one more surprise. The price of a Buick is a lot less than he'd guessed it would be.

Moral: Smart Buy's Buick—right now.

Know you what it is to be a child?
It is to be something very different from the man of today.
It is to have a spirit still dripping with the waters of baptism.
It is to believe in love
To believe in loveliness
To believe in belief -
It is tobe so little that the elves can reach up and whisper in your ear -
It is to turn pumpkins into coaches
Mice into horses
Lowness into loftiness
And nothing into everything -
For each child has a fairy godmother in its soul.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

This week's "Who Is It?" whose picture is shown on page 4 is a newcomer to Carmel. Yet her place in Carmel is well established and her job an important one to the community. Mrs. Whoozit is the new executive secretary of the Carmel Red Cross Branch office. As such she carries out the directives of the chapter's volunteer directors (all Carmel private citizens) and acts as liaison between them and the other agencies of the national Red Cross.

Born in Oakland, a philosophy major at the University of California, her first social work was among inter-racial groups on the Cal campus, and also church and youth groups. Her forte was folk dancing, and the groups she interested in it eventually became the Folk Dancing Federation, which incidentally, has associate groups on the Peninsula, and which has held a number of folk dance congresses here. For three years post-graduation at Cal she was program director at Stiles Hall which is the official YMCA organization.

Then in 1943, she entered the war effort via the Red Cross which was setting up large service and leave clubs in England and eventually France and Belgium. Mrs. Whoozit was program director at Salisbury in southern England, Liverpool and London.

She arrived in London at the same time as the buzz bomb but fortunately never got acquainted with one to the handshaking point.

From London assignments carried her to Paris and on to Belgium. Her trip from Paris to Menours, Belgium, which she made with another Red Cross girl by hitching a ride with a truck convoy of returning Belgian POWs, was one of the more pleasant memories of the war. They were treated like visiting Duchesses, dined and wined--cognac mainly--along the route. And she remembers there was a wee tear in her eye when they passed the French-Belgium border. Here the Belgian war prisoners who hadn't seen home for five lonesome years spontaneously broke into their national anthem.

At Nemours Mrs. Whoozit oversaw the activities of the leave club which was quartered in the luxurious surroundings of a gambling casino second in size to the famous Monte Carlo go-buster. However with a few substitutions like pinochle for chemin de fer, it made a very fine service club. Here Mrs. Whoozit and her staff of Nemourians gave returning Allied war prisoners their first taste of the good old U.S. But though the men looked longingly for the traditional sinkers and coffee, they got chicken sandwiches--most all of them being on a strict diet. The Red Cross at Nemours also fed two relief trains daily in addition to processing these batches of prisoners arriving in waves of 1500 at a time.

After the war Mrs. Whoozit stayed with Red Cross in Washington, D.C., screening Red Cross personnel for overseas duty. Coming back to the home town finally she put in three and a half years as field director for the Red Cross at Oakland Veterans Hospital. In this capacity she worked in conjunction with local community Red Cross chapters similar to the Carmel unit she now serves.

On leave of absence Mrs. Whoozit came to Carmel a year ago. Perhaps you met her in and around the Pine Inn where she was bookkeeper for some time. On November 1 she took over the wheel at Carmel's Red Cross chapter when Liz Fogel, its former secretary, resigned to be married.

This week's Mrs. Whoozit, an attractive pleasant person to meet and know, and also a capable administrator for this important civic organization, is a pleasure to introduce... Meet MRS. VERNICE JENSEN.

CUT DOWN SCENIC DRIVE'S CYPRESS AND MAKE A BOULEVARD? OR NOT?

HOWARD LEVINSON says,- -- "Spare the cypress trees. There are dozens of towns all over the country with streets built for speed and comfort. Go slow along Scenic and enjoy the view."

MARIE SCHNUCH, Carmel,-- "I'm not one who thinks all trees in Carmel are untouchable. However, I think Scenic Drive should be left alone with all those cypress trees."

CYRIL DELANEY, Carmel,-- "Anythought of removing those cypress trees to make a boulevard is absurd. Some Carmel streets could stand widening and improving, but not the one in question. After all, its name is Scenic Drive."

ARTHUR T. SHAND, Carmel Valley,--"If traffic is the problem, reduce the speed limit and make it a one-way street--north to south."
